The Georgia Structural Pest Control Commission has been a valuable partner with the Georgia Department of Agriculture in overseeing the state's structural pest control industry. Our goals are the same: to ensure structural pest management companies comply with pesticide laws and regulations to protect the health, safety and welfare of the citizens of Georgia and the environment.

The public and the structural pest management industry benefit from our collaborative efforts and the work of the Georgia Structural Pest Control Commission. Members take valuable time away from their work and lives to promote a more professional standard for the industry, and I sincerely appreciate the efforts of each member.

True progress and success come by working together. Whether it is by improving standards and training in the industry and at the regulatory level, or by educating the public about structural pest control, we can work together to make the structural pest control industry in Georgia the most effective and most respected structural pest control industry in the nation. In short, we want to be the best.
